FIRST ANNOUNCEMENT

WELCOME

We are pleased to invite you to attend the Seventh European Congress of Chemotherapy and Infection which will be held in Florence in October 2005.

The meeting will, through scientific presentations, expert lectures, 'debates' and symposia, explore infections and their treatment, including the latest scientific knowledge in the pharmacological management of infectious diseases. The program will be CME accredited and is designed to encourage delegate participation and stimulate discussion and exchange of information on current and emerging therapies for the treatment of infections.

The Palazzo dei Congressi and Palaffari center are an excellent scientific venue and located in the city center.

A social program, offering a range of accompanied tours, will be organized to enable you to explore the beautiful city of Florence and its Tuscan surroundings.

We look forward to seeing you in Florence!
